

Media is already dominated by only six companies. We are already given little choice in what we see and hear. Further allowing monopolistic rules serves only private interests, not the public--the true owners of the airwaves. The FCC is supposed to protect the rights of the public, not cater to private interests. I urge you to not allow further consolidation of our media.